As a supplement to our Vol. 2 No. 2 (Sept. 1976) newsletter, Len Heilman wrote an article on "Naturalization in Pennsylvania Prior to 1791". Two of the sources of lists of naturalizations of Pennsylvanians mentioned by Len had been reprinted and published by the Genealogical Publishing Company of Baltimore: Persons Naturalized in the Province of Pennsylvania 1740-1773 (originally in the published PA Archives) and Naturalizations in the American Colonies(originally edited by M. S. Giuseppi and published by The Huguenot Society of London).

Do not assume the above two publications contain the same lists of Pennsylvanians. Although many lists are the same, each book contains lists the other does not. I notice some Giuseppi lists give townships of residence as well as county while the same Archives lists give only the county. A significant list occurs only in Giuseppi on pages 99-149. Dated September and October 1765, the list contains some 2500 persons. My ancestor Adam Gerringer of Bethlehem Township, Northampton County, appears in this list.

Another source for naturalizations is Colonial Maryland Naturalizations by Jeffrey A. and Florence L. Wyand and published by Genealogical Publishing in 1975. Besides many Maryland residents this book contains the names of a few people who lived above the PA and MD border. In this book I found my ancestor Valentin(e) Rheinhard is identified as "of Mannheim Twp., near the Maryland border" when naturalized on 16 March 1758. By 1760 he moved farther South, residing and dying in what is now Carroll County, MD.

May your genealogy puzzles help keep you warm and entertained while the snow falls and the winter winds blow.

MARKET PRICE OF EMIGRANTS

Alfreda Patton recently came across the following interesting item in the 27 Sept 1828 issue of the "Shamokin Canalboat": "As known the ship Captains often take emigrants to America with the stipulation, to leave themselves be sold for a fixed time, for their fare. In the German papers the market prices of these emigrants is given as follows - Usually the Captain receives for a German 60 to 80 dollars, for a Frenchman not more than 40 dollars, for an Englishman or Scotchman 30 dollars, and for an Irishman 20 to 25 dollars, they cannot get rid of a Spaniard or Portuguese at any price".
